Refrigerators and Water Coolers.

If there was a better Refrigerator than the "North Star" you would find it here. The "North Star" was selected as our standard because it is best in construction and most substantial in service. It is cork filled, and the air in each compartment is always dry. If ice cost as much as gold it couldn't be consumed more economically. We are sole agents in New York for the "North Star" Refrigerator.

The Exodus of Gotham.

Just two weeks before May Day. Then comes moving in the city and plans for moving out of the city. The robust hilarity and enthusiasm of Spring moving will develop into an epidemic. The subtle virus will penetrate every quarter. All sorts and conditions of people are sure to catch the contagion. The whole city will be eruptive in the same way.

To move on May Day is perfectly natural. It is part of the drama, or tragedy, or farce of life. It is the grand unveiling of a thousand household economies. Erstwhile quiet homes become disordered with a maelstrom of furniture and excited people carrying vases, pictures, mattresses, mirrors and other fragile articles. All the domestic subterfuges come to light. You see the state of your neighbor's pots and pans. You detect his broken pitchers and patched tureens. It may rain or blow, or snow, or freeze—but the work goes on. It is the Exodus of Gotham. You are determined to trudge—to go where rent is cheaper and air is fresher. A hundred needs will be revealed. As they come to the surface—think of Macy's.

Upholstery Goods.

France contributes more daintiness and novelty for beautifying the home than any other country. The Gobelins mills produce the most sumptuous tapestries, and have been developed by governmental patronage. And yet the French language, with all its sparkle and color and grace, has no word to express "Home." Think of it! Such a burst of plaintive sentiment as "Home, Sweet Home," cannot enrich the songs of France. However, we are under obligations to that volatile nation for many of the material charms and decorations that make home restful, aesthetic and ideal. You'll find some of them in the following list. All who intend to furnish a new home or renovate an old one, in city or country, will find items of interest.

The Carpets in Annex.

A clever woman paid them a nice tribute. It was appreciated because she complimented the values unconsciously. She said: "Nothing can be as cheap as they look to be." We convinced her that she was mistaken. These Carpets are just as cheap as they look to be. Come see.

Spring Rugs and Matting.

A Constantinople paper, with fair pride, records the fact that the turbaned nation is supreme in attar and rugs. However, the Jap and the Yank have caught fervor from the picturesque Turk and produce Rugs with colors and patterns that are genuinely Asian. For example:

- Japanese Jute Rugs, a l'orientale—copies of Persian and Turkish effects—at prices decidedly low.

Macy's

R. H. Macy and Co.

BOTH SIDES OF 14TH ST. (Running from 13th to 15th St.), SIXTH AVE.

Baby Carriages and Go-Carts.

The sunshine of April compensates for the showers. Urban parks, suburban paths and rural lanes invite the baby. Give them the air and balm without burdening the nurse. Buy a carriage or go-cart. The nurse can't be cheerful or entertaining with tired arms. Baby eyes will glisten and baby lips will coo when they go wheeling in these.

- Children's Go-Carts, a large assortment, including all shapes and styles, ranging from $1.88 up to... $6.88
- Children's Carriages, upholstered in corduroy, damask or plush, ranging from $2.74 up to... $19.32

Springtime at Macy's.

The world is loveliest in Spring. Italy is never so alluring as in May. The gay denizens of the Faubourg St. Germain deck themselves in dainty muslins before the trees put on fresh leaves. Fifth Avenue blooms sooner than the fields. Landaus are thrown back, windows are thrown up, and flowers are ranged under the curtains. They feel the soft air and genial sun. Passers along the street share the sensations of the flowers. They, also, feel the soft air and genial sun. Furs and heavy coats vanish. The chrysalis in muff and sealskin emerges a butterfly in airy gauze. Anon a zephyr is wafted from the south. It crosses Broadway, and loiters along Sixth Avenue, hovers about Fourteenth Street and gently blows into Macy's. Then the venturesome zephyr and vast displays of seasonal merchandise make you think of the country—of wood-paths and violets, of meadows and hay-mounds, of brooks that murmur and lilies that are lucent-eyed, of songful dawns and spicy dusks, of auroral shades and moonlit snadows. Stroll through the aisles and poetic ideas will yield to practical ones as you see an abundance of the things you'll need on your summer pilgrimage.

For Furniture Buyers.

Wonder is not an enduring emotion. However, this Furniture sale will keep the minds of buyers stretched to the wonder point for at least nine days. Such cheapness is more than a nine day wonder. But we let it go at that. Three floors of the annex are, metaphorically, groaning beneath the weight of accumulated Furniture economies. And each floor is wide and long—extending from Fourteenth to Fifteenth street. You may spend a day looking at the collection and see a bargain every minute. A few of them are mentioned:

Housefurnishings.

Even as we take our seat and clear a spot upon our desk, whereon to place a ream of manila paper and a cavernous ink-well, we fall to philosophizing and moralizing upon that wonderful progress of modern times which we call civilization, and which brings to our notice the assembled attractions of the basement. We don't claim leadership in everything, but there is not the slightest doubt concerning our supremacy in Housefurnishings. Miss Croesus may not come here to choose her trousseau, but when she becomes Madame Cyrtus she will be a familiar habitue of the Macy basement.
